BILL L'IB OVER.

Measure May Be Reported Tuesday -Only Two Delegates Are Expected to Vote Against It.

Tuesday, October 22, is the date agreed upon for the special election on the proposed five amendments to the City Charter, and that date will be interpolated into the bill, providing the bill passes the House of Delegates at an early date.

The Charter amendments bill was not reported in the House last night. Chairman Kelly of the Committee on Legislation said the work of arranging the details of the bill had consumed so much time yesterday that the committee was unable to meet. He said the bill will be reported next Tuesday evening or next Friday evening. It seems that the delay is really the consequence of one complaint from one constituent of one

Members of the committee were busy several hours yesterday with City Counselor Schnurmacher, going over section after section, looking for clerical errors and minor omissions. All the amendments will be explained to the Delegates thoroughly before the next meeting. Apparently only two Delegates will vote against submitting the proposition to the voters, and indica tions are that the bill will be passed by an otherwise unanimous decision.

The bill appropriating $15,075 for damage: sustained in the opening of De Baliviere avenue from Delmar boulevard to Forest Park; another appropriating $75.81 for damages incurred by the condemnation of right-of-way in Blackstone Avenue Sewer District No. 1, and another to permit Jaccb Zaitman to operate a slaughter-house at No. 3419 Indiana avenue were passed.

Mr. Sweeney introduced a bill to appropriate $47.50 for the relief of John Hughes and Mr. Denny a bill to appropriate $47.92 for the relief of Thomas M. Carniff. Both beneficiaries served as temporary clerks in the City Register's office.

Mr. Kelly was allowed the floor to deliver a speech inviting the Delegates and avenue from Delmar boulevard to Fores liver a speech inviting the Delegates and their friends to the Tammany Club's lawn party and social session in Athletic Park this evening. The speech was followed by the interchange of remarks about the See Serena Lamb's comments on the Swimming Party Fad in to-morrow's

TID-BITS OF VANITY FOR MAID AND MATRON. Tucks at the Back Run From Shoul

COOL UNLINED FROCKS.

Stylish Women Are Weathering the Stress of the Present Heat in a Comfortable Manner. Last summer's torrid heat seems to have taught women a lesson on dressing, and the frocks of this season are fashioned in a far more comfortable way than they have been for years. Not a single thin gown, for instance, has a lining. Once the most elaborate of the batistes, dimities and organdles were made upon a foundation, the waists were boned and the collars stiffened to an exasperating degree. In fact, many of the frocks were so close ly fitted and so whaleboned that they were little if any more comfortable than a nun's veiling gown would have been. This summer the collars are unlined and are made generally of transparent materials wired.

Very frequently the collar is done away with altogether, and fichus and kerchiefs are arranged, surplice fashion, to leave the throat bare and still not give the costume so festive an aspect as to unfit it to wear in the street cars or to suburban amusement resorts.

The stiff linen collar has almost entirely disappeared. With their shirt waists the women who wish to preserve the beauty of their throats and those who have no desire to be uncomfortable wear thin unstarched white ties without even a skeleton collar underneath. Silk gloves are substituted for kid ones, and the veil, which is the ubiquious accompaniment of every outing hat, hangs loose from the brim, mademoiselle refusing to place herself in the Turkish bath that a drawn-up, pinned-close veil

BE GLAD OF SUCCESS.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Says as You Think, So Shall Your Life Be, as

Think, So Shall Tour Life Be, as Happiness Follows Cheer.

Teach youself early in life to be glad of another's success, sorry for another's failure. The moment you entertain the opposite feeling, you invite ultimate disaster to your life. The thoughts you send forth will come to you as events, finally. Thought is the main road to happiness, says Mrs. Wilcox in Success. As you think, so shall your life be. Circumstance and environment are changed by intense thought-action, Happiness comes mainly from neither. Every ness comes mainly from neither. Every day we hear and read of successful and women, judged from the worldly stand-point, who are miserable and unhappy. The suicide of the rich and prosperous is too common. Nevertheless, prosperity, friend-ship, success, and, best of all, love, add greatly to the happiness of a happy mind. M FOR CHILDREN.

A deep tray, lined with zinc and filled with sand, will furnish material for the mud ples, and serve to teach many a geography lesson as well. There should be tools for the boy who likes them, and a kitchen and all that be-longs to it should be provided for the do-mestic child. A portion of the floor should be left bare, so that roller skates need not be prohibited. There should be chairs and tables to suit the size of the different owners of the room, and plenty of them, so that if Jess wants to "play tea" and Jack wants to draw, and Jennie wants to cut out doll's clothes, all may be accommo-

FOR A BRIDE'S WOTHER

Silk is Generally Selected, and There Are Many Handsome New Fabrics in This Style.

It is difficult to find anything in the way of a dress for a bride's mother. A rich silk material is generally selected, and there are certainly very handsome new fabrics of this style this summer. One of the most beautiful is silk granite, a sort of thickgrained dull satin, draping well and forming soft, heavy folds. As to the fashion of the dress, a jacket bodice is more becoming to a rather stout figure than a bolero or cuirass.

Another dress for mother is in tan color. made in redingote form, with long train and wide plaits at the sides. The front is open from the collar down, over a plaited under-front of ivory satin crossed with a lattice work of black velvet ribbon. The corsage is sharply pointed in front and rounded be hind. The tan sleeves enlarge toward the wrists over triple puffs of mousseline de sole over ivory satin.

MARKETING BY PROXY.

Tired Housewife Suggests That Idle Girls Might Learn to Become Pro-fessional Purchasing Agents.

A woman the other day had an idea. It was distinctly to her credit, for she was the wearlest woman any one ever saw. "Nothing but marketing," she said, succinctly, to the friend who exclaimed over her state of collapse at 11 o'clock in the morning. And she is a woman who has things to do-things of such importance that no one knowing her would venture to write them with a small "t." "Why can't I get some one to do it for me?" she continued. "Good gracious, that's an idea!"

"Good gracious, that's an idea!"

Then, quite forsetting that she had collapsed, she brightened up and became quite excited, planning out the advantages of marketing by proxy.

"All those girls, you know," she said comprehensively, "wanting to make pin-money or money for something they can swallow more safely. I'll suggest it to them. We have purchasing agents who make a hand-some commission; why not marketing agents, who will take from the busy house wife with one servant, several children and more clubs the burden of the mere physical scramble after the 'meat which perisheth?' GIRLS AS STEVEDORES. Young Women in Japan Perform This Task With an Ease Not Always Found Among Male Laborers. Young girls in Japan are employed to per-form a task which cannot be done in the same time and with the same case by any other body of work folk in the world. They are engaged at the different ports in loading the large steamers with coal. The coal barges are swung alongside the vessel, from stem to stern of which are hung a series of platforms, the broadest nearest the base and diminishing as they rise. On each of these platforms a girl stands. Men on the barges fill baskets containing about two buckets of coal each, and pass them to the girl standing on the lowest platform. She passes them to the girl above her, and a continuous and unbroken line of baskets passes into the vessel from 10 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon, says Woman's

The girls will handle from sixty to seventy baskets of coal per minute, and over 1,000 tons of coal a day.

LADIES' STYLISH MATINEE.

der to Belt in a V-Shaped Outline, Producing a Long-

Waisted Effect. Ladies' Matinee, No. 335.—Ivory white India silk, chiffon and black velvet ribbon are combined in this dainty matinee.

The tucks at the back run from shoulder to belt in V-shaped outline, producing a desirable long-waisted effect. The fullness below the belt falls in soft folds.

The fronts are also tucked and drawn in close at the belt with a narrow black velvet ribbon which passes around the waist, through a wide eyelet cut in the front tuck and ties in a bow with long ends. The broad sailor collar is trimmed with chiffon applique and edged with a full ruffle of chiffon. This is applied in a graceful jabot down the front and around the lower edge.

32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust

The matinee is short on the hips and ex-tended in long points at the front. The uppers of the sleeves are tucked. They terminate at the elbow and are finished with a ruffle surmounted by a band of vel-vet ribbon, which fastens under a small rosette.

The mode is appropriate for crepe de chine, Louisine, plain or figured foulard and surah. Dainty matinees may also be developed in lawn, dimity or swiss and trimmed with Valenciennes lace.

To make the matinee in the medium size will require two yards of thirty-six-inch material. The pattern, No. 2315, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure.

scattered over with sprays of flowers, had a deep shaped flounce on the skirt of white muslin with black spots. The sleeves also had elbow puffs of the muslin, and the bolero opened over a vest of this material. Fancy buckles are much admired now on frequently used in this way. A fasc little slipper was worn at a recent evening party upon which was set a buckle consisting of a circle of pearls, through which satin ribbon had been passed, and tied in a bow just above the buckle.

A strip of Oriental trimming is much used to cover the pleat in the middle of the front of a shirt waist, but it must be worn with a stock of the same material. The strips may be used merely as a movable decoration, but if stitched to the waist, it is more harmonious to use them also for the narrow bandlike cuff.

TO ENJOY A HOLIDAY. Be Happy, Become Interested in Outdoor Games and Study How to Change Customary Surroundings. Whether your journey this summer across the ocean or only to some farm or town twenty miles from your own hearthstone, first of all have your mind in a noti-day mood. Resolve to be happy and to make all around you happy, if they know enough and have in them the capacity for it. Then study how you can get as com-plete a change as possible from all that usually surrounds you. Change even the kind of books you read, taking up some fresh page of the story of life as it is committed to literature. Throw yourself heartily into outdoor games—golf, basket ball, croquet and tennis—or learn to emulate the croquet and tennis-or learn to emulate the English girls, who are not afraid of a tennile morning walk. If you live in the city and spend your vacation in the country, says the Woman's Home Companion, take with you a book or two on birds, trees or wild flowers; not as a study, but to bein direct your attention and help you see what is around you.

PHILOSOPHY IN PARAGRAPH.

Force is no argument.
It is better to cry to-morrow, if you must; but laugh to-day.

It is a great misfortune in nature for a woman to want a confident.

What some men call success, others call death. Death of love, death of hope, death of manhood, death of soul.

A baby does not shed tears until it is a months old. Up to that time it just yelle on months old. Up to that time it just your on general principles.

Many sensations are attributed to the heart which have no connection with it.

The man who marries a widow often finds himself the successor of the ideal husband.

Selfishness is many times a woman's best safeguard, but one which she is usually here without.
